SYDNEY

If there's one place to head to in Surry Hills for a drink on a Friday, it's the Aurora Hotel Roof Bar – it's the only weekday it's open, other than for private functions.

Although you'll find it packed with the after-work crowd – it is Friday after all – the vibe of the bar is still casual and you could choose a drop from the concise wine list or one of the beers on tap. "During the week, it's a very strong corporate crowd that is 25 and over, then on the weekends, the 21 and over crowd start taking advantage of the outdoors earlier in the night," says licensee Cameron Armstrong.

MELBOURNE

The Red Hummingbird's Silk Pagoda Rooftop contrasts directly with the Moroccan theme of the cocktail lounge downstairs. Silk lanterns and a sitting Buddha statue, together with comfy cushions and oriental benches, float amid a sea of skyscrapers, providing guests with an exotic escape from the humdrum. For your evening to really take off, just order any of the establishment's signature drinks such as the sparkling cocktails. "We wanted to create a feeling of escapism from the urban surroundings into an opulent resort-style paradise," says owner Kevin Singh.

BRISBANE

Limes Hotel's Roof Top Bar is a completely alfresco champagne and cocktail bar open to the public and hotel guests who are over 21 years of age and in smart casual dress. Settle into one of the intimate cabanas or perch yourself on one of the grey ottomans in front of the bar. Best of all, if you've had one too many to make your way home, you can check-in after midnight at a special rate.
